Only
immunizations
will protect
your little one
from...

...the diseases parents fear most.

These dangerous diseases can make your child very ill. They can cause brain damage or death. To protect your child get baby shots and boosters on time, every time.

What you can do:

- Start your baby's shots on time.
- Make sure your child stays on schedule (over).
- When your child is receiving immunizations, comfort by:
  - ✓ Staying calm yourself.
  - ✓ Talking in a soothing voice or singing.
  - ✓ Holding your child.
  - ✓ Bringing a familiar, comforting object, such as a toy.
  - ✓ Allowing your child to cry.

Your doctor or clinic will give you an official record of your child's immunizations. You will need this important document until your child is an adult. Take it with you on every doctor visit. The doctor or nurse will write in the immunizations they gave and mark when the next ones are due. California law requires immunizations for school and child care. Immunizations are also required by CalWORKs and are reviewed at WIC programs. You will need your record as proof of immunization.

About immunizations:

Immunizations are also called baby shots, boosters, vaccinations, shots, IZ's, or vaccines. Immunizations give protection, but sometimes they make children run a fever or be cranky. Your child's arm or leg may get sore or get a small lump. These are common reactions. Ask your doctor or nurse about reactions.
